

ANNUAL MARTHA BALL HELD AT BERTHANA IS SUCCESS; GOVERNOR MAYBE PRESENT

Success to the most minute details featured the annual "Charity Ball" last evening, given by the women of the Martha society at the Berthana hall. The affair surpassed any of the thirteen annual functions given since the organization of the society in 1905, for charitable and social purposes.

The reception room was beautifully adorned with tall baskets of lavender and white chrysanthemums, where those in the receiving line, including Mrs. H. H. Spencer, Mrs. E. O. Wattle, Mrs. Ezra Rich, Mrs. M. S. Browning, and Mrs. Joseph Scowcroft, Martha society members, welcomed the guests. Approximately 100 were in attendance, including the Governor and Mrs. Charles R. Governor Charles R. Mabey and Mrs. W. H. Wattle, president of the society, led the grand march, which was under the direction of Mrs. G. L. Becker. Following the governor and Mrs. Wattle, were Mrs. Charles R. Mabey and Mrs. W. H. Wattle, members of the governor's staff, other prominent guests and members of the Martha society.

The large table in the dining room was centered with a basket of pink and white chrysanthemums, where refreshments were served. Smaller baskets filled with same colored chrysanthemums adorned each of the smaller tables arranged around the room. Punch was served during the course of the evening in the ball room. Music was furnished by an enlarged orchestra.

14 PENSIONERS OF S. P. HERE

12 White Men and Two Chinese on Retired List of Railroad

Representing a total of more than 400 years of service with the Southern Pacific company, or an average of almost 39 years each, 12 pensioners of the company now reside at Ogden, according to officials of the company. The last issue of The Bulletin, the official publication of the company, bore a cut and a brief history of some of the group. The pensioners are: Chas. Jenkins, machinist helper, 25 years 2 months; H. H. Hancock, brakeman, 27 years 8 months; O. W. Hollibaugh, engineer, 41 years 2 months; John Payne, engineer, 39 years; W. B. Murphy, engineer, 40 years 9 months; C. D. Line, machinist, 53 years 4 months; Joseph Rowland, section foreman, 21 years 5 months; L. H. Nicholls, foreman, 46 years 11 months; Wm. L. Horspool, clerk, 39 years 11 months; Murchison Compton, tool room attendant, 35 years 9 months; F. A. Haight, brakeman, 40 years 6 months; W. J. Toy, road foreman of engineers, of Ogden, is another pensioner who was retired last summer after extended service with the company.

In this interesting group of veterans are found the men typical of the sturdy railroad pioneers whose years of faithful service contributed much toward the early growth and development of the Southern Pacific and whose spirit, instilled in the railroad era of the present generation, has carried on the efficient service to Southern Pacific patrons throughout the country.

L. H. Nicholls is the oldest pensioner in this group in point of service, he having been with the company for 46 years 11 months, being pensioned April 1, 1921. He was formerly water service foreman and in the old days, according to Supt. W. L. Hack, enlaved to locate water on the Salt Lake division by "boofing" it from Ogden to Reno and visiting every spring within 20 miles north or south of the tracks.

H. H. Hancock, another of the pensioners, with 27 years 8 months service, was the rear end brakeman at the time the Overland Limited was held up in January, 1911. He was compelled by the robbers to carry the sack in which they gathered the valuables and in an attempt to get away and save the loot he was caught, on account of the dining car door being locked, and severely beaten by the bandits.

There are also two Chinese pensioners living at Ogden, Ah Han and Yuet You.
